A collection of glassware is displayed on a light-colored, textured surface. On the left, a dark, textured glass vase holds two yellow chrysanthemums. In the center, a tall, clear glass vase with a faceted, diamond-patterned design holds a single yellow chrysanthemum. To its right, a smaller, clear glass vase with a similar faceted design holds a single yellow chrysanthemum. On the far right, a tall, clear glass vase with a faceted design holds a large, yellow, multi-petaled flower. The background is a warm, light brown color. A vertical white bar is visible in the upper center of the image.

We pride ourselves on creating new products from natural, sustainable and recycled materials. Our glassware collection is crafted from 100% recycled glass.

Traditional hand-carved Stone man from Sumba, Indonesia.

In the traditional villages of Sumba, statues like these are placed inside and around the entrance of the hut providing protection and healing to the occupants inside.

The stone men will vary in size and shape.
Go to www.byroom.dk to get more details and see the full range of our Sumba stone men.

A wooden beam is suspended horizontally across the top of the frame. Several brooms of various colors and materials are hanging from the beam by thin, light-colored twine. The background is a wall made of light-colored wood with a diagonal herringbone pattern. The brooms have different colored heads: orange, green, dark blue, light blue, and natural straw. Some have black or white bands around the necks. The lighting is soft and even, highlighting the textures of the wood and the fibers of the brooms.

The brooms you see here are all handmade, eco-friendly and sustainable. No energy is used in the production, except human energy. Only positive carbon footprint.
